CONGRATULATIONS . . . Dr. Nels Minne, college president, congratulates Sue Loeffler after the program as Miss Amanda Aarestad, mistress of ceremonies, and Mrs. Paul Pletke, awardee of DAR scholarships, look on. Sue and Jonelle Millam both were awarded the Josephine Flagg scholarships.

Science, math instructors make summer study plans

Duane Wolfe, mathematics instructor at Winona State College, has recently been awarded a N.S.F. stipend at Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama. The ten week institute begins June 14. Courses in modern algebra and analysis will be offered and ten hours graduate credit will be given.

William H. Emmons of the mathematics and science division has been awarded a National Science Foundation stipend to study low temperature and solid state physics at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan. The conference will start June 14 and will be of four weeks duration.

Donald Fick of the science and mathematics division has been awarded a National Science Foundation stipend to participate in a Radioisotope Technology institute at Texas A & M University, College Station, Texas. The six week institute will begin June 7 and end July 16, 1965.

Milton Underkoffler, assistant professor of mathematics at Winona State College, has been accepted to attend the "Conference on Linear Algebra for College Teachers of Mathematics," to be held at the University of California, Santa Barbara. The four week conference will start August 3 and is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Maurice McCauley, a Winona State Physics Instructor, has been awarded a grant to attend a summer institute at Texas A & M University. The institute will be in activation analysis at the Nuclear Science Center at Texas A & M University. The objective of the Institute is to provide a thorough course in activation analysis with sufficient theory and laboratory practice so the participants will be able to apply the technique. The first four weeks will be devoted to formal instruction in the classroom and in the laboratory. The last two weeks will be devoted to specialized research topics. The dates of the institute will be July 19 to August 28, 1965. The institute is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Circle K awarded medal

Circle K, one of whose clubs serves the campus of Winona State, has been awarded the George Washington Honor Medal for its college campus citizenship and service program in 1964, it was announced today by Roy Wilsey, president.

This is the fourth time that Circle K has been honored by the Freedoms Foundation.

The local chapter of Circle-K sponsored a bicycle rodeo for grade school students May 8 in conjunction with the Winona Police Department, according to Circle-K president Roy Wilsey. Edward Rost was chairman of the event.

Approximately 500 students from W-K, Lincoln and Madison Schools participated in the bicycle

One small oversight

Last weekend many parents enjoyed a few days on campus with their sons and daughters over Parents' Weekend.

The parents attended several fine speeches and a swim show — but it does seem that a small problem occurred somewhere.

Many parents arriving Friday evening and Saturday morning wanted to do more than simply tour the campus with their children; they wanted to tour the academic buildings, too.

They tried to get into the the buildings, only to find that they were locked. Later they were informed that if they wanted to see the buildings they should have come on Friday.

We wonder why. On what grounds was the responsible party justified in making such a ruling? We realize that some parents who live in the Winona area were probably not particularly inconvenienced by having to come on Friday, but what about the parents who don't live so close?

Many of these parents probably could not get away from homes and offices before Friday afternoon and thus could not arrive on campus before the buildings were locked. Other parents, if the distance was not too great, came Saturday morning to save motel expenses.

This brings us to our second point of interest. Is it fair to make parents spend more on motels and take extra time off from work just so they can get here in time to see the buildings? We hardly think so. In fact, it even seems unnecessary because Saturday's schedule allowed plenty of time for activities such as these.

Perhaps it was merely an oversight, but whatever the case, we hope that next year our parents can have an enjoyable and inexpensive a weekend as we can possibly give them.

Congratulations, student!

We congratulate all students at Winona State College who have earned high scholastic averages this past year.

Last Monday evening forty-nine students were given special recognition at the scholarship awards program presented in Gildemeister Hall. In order to receive a scholarship a college student must have at least a 2.75 scholastic average and a high school student must rank in the top quarter of his graduating class. Receiving a scholarship is certainly an honor.

Besides those that received scholarships, though, there are many more students who consistently make the honor roll — or at least come very close. These students actually receive very little, if any, publicity for their achievement.

High averages are the result of many hours of hard tedious study. As any upperclassman knows and the freshman class will learn when they come back next fall, poor academic averages will cut very deeply into class sizes.

Certainly a high scholastic average is something which you may be very proud. Congratulations again.

Month of May a merry-go-round

by Frank Bonofiglio

THE MERRY-GO-ROUND . . . Do you have the feeling that the month of May has been a merry-go-round? I do; in fact, I have been thinking it's more like a roller coaster. Since Easter's extended vacation I haven't really had much rest and from all the talk it doesn't seem like I'm the only one. Summer vacation will really be welcomed this year, I'm sure.

BABBLING BROOK . . . Nick Majerus has a few small jobs for Doug Rosendahl . . . Did you notice the cross with the fishes painted on it over in the empty field next to the library? It is the marker for the deceased fishes that the Phi Sig pledges carried around with them last week. . . . The Formal Dinner Dance for the Phi Sigma Epsilon brothers will be at the Holiday Lanes in La Crosse . . . I understand that Putt Norstebo was the life of the party during the choir trip to Washington, D.C. and New York City . . . The saddest face I saw when the choir left for that trip was Susie Hohenhaus . . . Seniors, if you haven't donated to the Senior Gift to the School please do it TODAY . . . Congratulations to all the new class officers who were recently elected . . . The Greek Organizations anxiously await the results of Tuesday night's speech contest between the fraternities and sororities. . . . The Alpha Xi Delta picnic is this Sunday.

SPRING SPORTS . . . Beta Xi and the Spartans are fighting it out for first place in intramural baseball so far this season . . . the Traditional Phi Sig - Sig Tau baseball game will be held this coming Sunday . . . I'm hearing for Winona State . . . It's too nothing but raves about the Dolphin Club's Polynesian Hideaway . . . I hope that Jack Benedict can keep hurling those pitches in bad that the track team has been plagued by so many injuries as they have been doing so well . . . Congratulations also to John Rahman who broke the two mile record.

WINONA WHIZBANGS . . . Betty Dolney is engaged to Larry Johnson . . . And Mame Schwanke was pinned Tuesday night to Gary Laudin . . . Did you hear "that loves makes the world go 'round, but money greases the wheels" . . . and the latest definition of a Minnesotan is a person with snow in his driveway, water in his basement, his roof torn off and doesn't even know what time it is.

Speech prof
gives speeches

Dr. Lyman Judson is a professor of public speaking who believes in practicing what he teaches.

As a result he has accepted six of the seven invitations he has received from high schools in Minnesota and Wisconsin and within the next two weeks will deliver the 1965 Commencement addresses to graduating seniors and their parents and teachers in the public school systems of Canton, Chatfield, Elkton, Pepin, Preston, and Wabasha. He could not accept the seventh invitation because it conflicted with one of his other speaking engagements.

Three corrections are to be made in the finance committee's itemized allocations list according to Miss Angelyn DeGroot, office manager.

Is the United States run by a minority group?

by Harry Sieben

Recently we have heard more and more about Americans being killed in foreign lands. This is indeed serious and is one of the most offensive acts that can be committed against the "great and glorious" United States.

This killing of United States citizens must stop! With this broad and all-encompassing statement of some people in mind we must look to see how we can stop it.

We can approach the objective in many methods. We could leave all foreign countries and maintain a policy of complete isolationism. Since the days of Woodrow Wilson we have learned that this policy will not work for us, the most powerful and far reaching country in the world.

Or we could send the full force of United States military strength into these countries and wipe them out. These are extreme courses to follow, and of course we can follow neither of these courses. Our policy is, and must be, somewhere in the broad expanse between the extremes. The range can cover any number of alternatives.

We are well committed to a program of trying to assist foreign countries. There are many programs which we have such as the Peace Corps, membership in the United Nations, World Trade Acts and innumerable other policies in our history which indicate that we do have an interest in the problems of other countries.

With these things in mind we can have a reasonably accurate program to follow, consistent with our past policies. If we do not take a course of action within the somewhat limited spectrum that custom has dictated we take, we should be severely criticized for our inconsistency.

Because we have to have a policy, not everyone will be pleased with the stand that we have. No matter how our programs are carried out there is going to be criticism.

The recent rash of sit-ins, lie-ins, pray-ins and talk-ins have given way to what has come to be called a teach-in. In these affairs the valuable time of important, well-paid and tight-scheduled government executives is being taken to explain to a very loud minority group what the policies of the United States are and why they are taken.

This minority group is causing an unusually bothersome and quarrelsome squabble, when the size of the group is taken into account. It seems that some aspects of the "academic" section of our society are making a noise much out of proportion to the size of the group.

The system of Democracy which we practice, of course, allows for all citizens to practice their right of free speech. It is not inferred that this right should be stifled, but it is hoped that observers of the American scene will not get the wrong idea in hearing the "noise" of one group. In any event, an attempt should be made to grasp the feelings of the undefined majority.

Minne concerned;
W.S.C. must grow!

by Dulcie Berkman

Our growing college campus and the increasing number of high school graduates who cannot get into college were the chief concern of Dr. Nels Minne, WSC president, in his address to parents on Parents' Day, May 15.

"Kryzsko Commons and the College Center will go into operation in the fall of 1965," he said, "and the students will at long last have a Union Center where the activities so necessary to college life can be carried on." He added that "we look forward eagerly to the contribution this building will make to the life of the college."

A 400-bed "high rise" dormitory of eight or nine stories is also planned, to be built near the College Center, Dr. Minne said, adding that "definite placing of this building must await the acquisition of land which we hope will be provided by the 1965 Legislative session."

Dr. Minne told the parent, "the addition of these new facilities will provide the opportunity to meet the demands of the increasing student population," and pointed out that "even in the fall of 1965 it is estimated that there will be 100,000 high school graduates who will be unable to get into college."

"A very real issue to be faced," he added, "is that which confronts parents and high school graduates now and more urgently in the years ahead: 'Who shall go to college and how will he be selected?'" College admission centers, parents, their children, and even other citizens of the community are all concerned with the issue.

"I raise the issue now," he said, "in the hope that your Parents' Association will appoint a committee to examine this problem and to advise with us, to make recommendations to our college admissions committee which will guide us in our thinking toward our solution of this problem."

A senior's
'sad' farewell

To the Editor:

Four years ago I came here along with some 600 other freshmen and this day seemed to be an eternity away.

I can still remember that first day as if it were yesterday. I walked into the registrar's office and the faculty member who helped me with registration gave me an 18-hour load and said, "Have a good quarter." Unlike the upperclassmen, I knew nothing of instructors so I ended up with the "slave drivers." After registration I walked to the book store where my parents and I bought all my books. As I reached the cash register, the girl who was working there said to another, "She is obviously a green frosh, get her beanie."

After spending a small fortune we left the book store, my parents loaded with books and I in my beanie. As soon as we reached the dormitory, I was welcomed by a choir of voices saying, "Button up frosh." My brother nudged me and told me to put my thumb on the button of my beanie. Thank goodness someone knew what these upper classmen meant. I buttoned up and they allowed me to go to my room.

Soon I was settled and my folks were off for home. Now Sal was really alone and green, but not for long. Upperclassmen ruled my life for two weeks; button up, double button, and air raid were the three phrases I dreaded the most. I ironed clothes, carried trays, feared to walk into the smoker, washed cars, and went through various forms of hazing, but soon the "greenish tinge" wore off and I was welcomed into the fold. At last I could toss the beanie, eat without carrying tray upon tray, and sit in the smoker without fearing the sight of an upper classman.

Now, four years later, I look back on those days with amusement. Our class was the last to see an initiation of freshmen and although Orientation Week is excellent, I do think the freshmen miss that little special part of college life.

In two weeks I will be graduating and although it will be great not to listen to lectures, write term papers, or take exams, I must admit that I will miss my old alma mater very much. I look upon my college days as the best days of my life and my college friends as the people I will always remember. After all, where else can one take Smogology 8-12, Beach Bathing 12-6, and Social Adjustment 6-midnight?

Some may say that there is a fraternity of Eastern fella's trying to overrule the school, that there are dishonest and corrupt Student Senators running elections, that W.S.C. is a sinking ship and with a certain club it cannot be salvaged, that the Winonan has not a mind of its own, but none of this propaganda could make me lose the loyalty I hold for Winona State College.

I would like to thank all of you who have helped me to make my college career a most profitable one. First on my list of thanks is the state of Minnesota for building W.S.C. and for accepting all Minnesota high school grads. Secondly, I would like to thank the Physical Education and Speech Departments for enabling me to follow a course of study which enables me to teach next year. Thirdly, I would like to thank all of you who enabled me to sit on the Student Senate and all of you who helped make my duties as vice president a success. This thanks goes especially to my homecoming committee and Miss S. J. Day, without whom there would have been no homecoming.

I cannot name everyone who has helped me because the paper is not big enough and neither is the New York Times, so I just want to say thank you to everyone I know for making my college days the best days of my life.

Before I close, I would like to say that I will miss everyone and everything at W.S.C., especially my Delta Zeta sisters and to them I wish all the luck in the world for future success.

Good-bye, Good-bye to the four greatest years of my lifetime, past and future.

A Melancholy Senior

WSC choir tour has its light side

The sixty-three voice Winona State Concert Choir left Tuesday, May 11 for their Eastern Concert Tour. The trip turned out to be an event-filled week of both serious and humorous occurrences.

The serious consisted of the concerts which were presented to enthusiastic audiences. The first took place on the steps of the National Capitol in honor of Minnesota Representatives Quie, Blatnik, and McGregor. On Friday, May 14, two concerts were given for students of Franklin High School at Reisterstown, Maryland. The high point of the tour was at the Washington Cathedral preceding the Evensong Service on Sunday afternoon. Last in the series was a concert at the Shenandoah Music Conservatory where choir director Richmond McCluer had previously been a faculty member.

The one disappointing event of the tour was the trip to the New York World's Fair. The concert at the Fair had been squeezed into a schedule planned previously around the Cathedral performance. A blown tire on the largest bus forced a 45-minute delay and ruined the tight schedule, thus causing the choir to arrive 25 minutes late at the Fair. Fair personnel had already prepared the stage for the next concert and the choir was unable to sing.

Most of Saturday afternoon was spent rehearsing in the Washington Cathedral and adjusting to the acoustics of the building with its 100-foot high ceiling. Accompanist Jonelle Millam had a challenging task in selecting the settings to achieve a good balance on the Cathedral's complex 4-manual organ. Since the Cathedral is a major tourist attraction, audiences of various sizes were present throughout the rehearsal. Sunday afternoon the choir rehearsed again and Representative Quie was among those listening.

On the humorous side, some of the brighter moments were:

- formation of the John Saecker Fan Club by the girls at Franklin High School.
- the choir members getting lost in the lower chapels of the Washington Cathedral just before the concert.
- accompanist Jonelle Millam's "assistants" at the Washington Cathedral; "stopsetter" Geoffrey Simon who later presented an organ recital, and "page turner" Dr. Paul Callaway, chief organist and choir director at the Cathedral and one of the foremost organists in the country.
- the abandonment of the director and choir officers in Somerset, Pennsylvania when they failed to arrive in time for departure after a lunch stop.
- the bus driver's instructions to Mr. McCluer to go get some milk for his ulcer while the defective tire was being changed.
- the performance of a new classic of vocal literature in the form of a farewell song to the bus drivers.

Former grad gets award

Edmund G. Facklam, principal and teacher at the Manawa Grade School, Manawa, formerly of Winona, was the recipient of $200 for the 1965 Professional Scholarship Award in original elementary research and study. He received his Masters from Winona State in 1964.

Mr. Ervin S. Yanke, West Allis, chairman of the Scholarship Committee presented the award at the Wisconsin Elementary School Principals banquet on Friday, May 7, at the Wausau Senior High School, Wausau.

Mr. Facklam's paper is titled A SURVEY OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND FACILITIES FOR GRADES SEVEN AND EIGHT OF SELECTED SCHOOLS IN WAUPACA COUNTY. Some of the objectives that the Scholarship Committee set up for the Professional Study Award were to encourage studies and research in the field of elementary education; to make this material available to teachers, principals, and others working in the elementary field; and to improve the education for the boys and girls in our schools.

Delta Zeta holds formal dinner dance

Forty couples attended Delta Zeta sorority's formal spring dinner dance at the Holiday Inn in La Crosse May 8.

Dr. Nels Minne, president of the college, Mrs. Minne, Miss Kathryn Dunlay, chapter adviser, Mari Kaczowski, chapter president, Dean Bailey, and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Kranz received chapter members and alumni as they arrived.

A presentation of awards and introduction of alumni followed a buffet supper. Carol Weaver was honored as the outstanding pledge and Nathalie Litschke presented scholarship awards to Sue Loeffler and Sandy Corey. A sterling silver salad service was given as a gift to the chapter from the winter pledge class.

Benedict, Warriors scalp Indians, 8-3

By Jim Martin

Behind the 7-hit pitching of Jack Benedict, the Warrior baseball team defeated Mankato State College, 8-3 at Mankato. A scheduled double header was postponed the following day due to rain.

Leading the Warrior hitters was Don Morgan who singled and doubled in four trips and Dave Wendlandt who also was two for four with three RBI's.

Benedict was virtually untouchable after surrendering two successive first inning singles, until the ninth when he weakened and allowed two runs. He scattered seven hits and struck out six.

The Warriors host the Beavers of Bemidji State this weekend at Gabryck Park. The Warriors must sweep the three-game series and hope St. Cloud gets defeated by Mankato in order to be eligible to play the MIAC champ St. Thomas for a NAIA tourney berth Monday.

Leading members of the WSC baseball team are as follows: hitting — Usgaard .365, Morgan .358, Kelly .312, homers — Usgaard 4.

John Rahman breaks 2 mile record

The Winona track team made a Southern trip last weekend and competed in two triangulars placing 2nd with Loras and Parsons and 3rd behind State College of Iowa and Platteville.

John Rahman set a new school record in the 2-mile run with a 9:54.4 clocking. Rahman also won the next day hitting the tape at 10:05.6.

Dan Scharmer won the javelin at Cedar Falls and broke his own season record with a 174.0 foot toss.

At Dubuque, Bill Barnard won the mile with 4:27.7, only 1.4 seconds off his season's mark. Pete LaVelle won the only remaining first place finish for the Warriors in the 220-yd. low hurdles, sprinting to the tape in :26.6 seconds.

Head coach, Robert Kiester, was pleased with the team's fine effort especially having to leave so many injured athletes home hoping they will be in shape for this weekend's NIC meet at St. Cloud.

NCAA wrestling at Mankato in '66 Linksman smash Stout State

Mankato State Sports Release

Dr. John B. Hodapp, athletic director at Mankato State, announced that Mankato State has been selected as the site for the Fourth Annual NCAA College Wrestling Championships March 10, 11 & 12 in 1966. The championships will be held in Highland Arena, which has a seating capacity of 5,000.

The event, which was held in Golden, Colorado this past year, attracted 38 colleges and universities from all parts of the country. Rummy Macias, Mankato State wrestling coach, feels the event will draw over 40 teams in 1966. This is the first time in Mankato State's history that it has hosted an NCAA Championship event.

Mankato State was champion at Golden, Colorado with 57 points, California State Polytech was second with 54 points, Western Illinois, Northern Illinois, and South Dakota State followed.

Sig Tau holds car wash

Sig Tau will hold a car wash this Saturday on Washington Street between King and Sanborn, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The charge is $1.00. Free pick up and delivery is provided by calling 9960.

The Warriors smashed Stout State 14 1/2-1 1/2 at Menomonie last week.

Scores for Winona were Jim Huettl 78, John Winston 79, Jim Ullrick and Dick Jones 80 and Jerry Van Hoof 84.

St. Cloud hosts the NIC tourney tomorrow. Playing for State will be Huettl, Jones, Van Hoof, Ullrick and Winston.
